Grazing Crops Aid In Erosion Control

One of the most practical ways to control erosion is to plant grazing crops such as fescue and white clover. Whether you have dairy cows, beef cows, or hogs, this combination is best for bottom pasture land.

Frank Perdue planted 5 acres of a fescue-white clover mixture and applied two tons of lime and 800 pounds of 0-14-10 per acre. His pasture carried a cow to the acre during an eight-month grazing period.

With serious farming grazing during the hot, dry summer months, fescue and white clover will be ready for early fall grazing. Thus, a 12 months grazing program may be worked out with the combination.

It is not known how "high up on the hill" fescue and white clover will grow in this country. It seems from results obtained by farmers that they can grow fescue and white clover on top of the hill on heavier soils well supplied with organic matter in the soil.

For the most profitable use of all your land, see your local soil conservation service worker who will help you plan a soil conservation program that is tailor made to fit your farm.

British Diver Says Spanish Galleon Has Been Found

TOBERMORY, SCOTLAND—The search for a sixteenth century Spanish treasure galleon, reported carrying about $800,000 in gold dust when sunk, has been found according to some reports.

The British navy has been searching for the ship for weeks. They recently came up with two silver medals from the mark of Tobermory bay where the search was conducted. The navy, however, called off the operation.

The Duke of Argyll owns the galleon, if there is one, and the treasure. The navy operation was practice. Any other move to recover the gold is up to the duke.

According to old stories, the galleon Duque Florencia of the Spanish Armada, was sunk in 1588 while carrying gold to pay Spanish fighters attempting a conquest of Britain. A decree of King Charles I gave the wreck to the Dukes of Argyll.

Small boys all over Scotland have thrilled to the adventure. They have read every word printed about the search.

If any gold is found the duke will have to turn it over to the British treasury for modern pounds sterling and a treasure spokesman commented.

"Thirty million good duets would make a very useful contribution indeed to the nation's gold reserves." Lieutenant. Comdr. Reg. Parkison, boss of the treasure hunt, is confident that the galleon has been found.

Traitor Gives Eyes To Blind Parisian

PARIS—Maurice Bay, was condemned and executed for being a member of the French gasta organization. As one of his last gestures he offered his eyes to a blind Parisian.

At a date on the day of execution physicians were at hand to remove the corneas. Upon completion of the execution they were removed and placed in an eye bank at the hospital.

The following day the corneas were transplanted to the eyes of a sightless Parisian. Bay was executed by a firing squad.

In looking over some old records in the probate office, Deputy Harold English ran across the war record in Captain Charles M. Cox, father of the late Neb Cox, former Elba resident. The record shows that Captain Cox was born Dec. 1, 1859, in Thomaston, Ga. He enlisted in the Confederate army as captain June 5, 1861, in Company D, Alabama Infantry. He was captured by the enemy and was held prisoner until the end of the war between the states.

In commenting on the life of Captain Cox, his grandson, Bradley Cox, stated that his grandfather went through the war and Federal prisons without serious injury and lived an active life until he was killed in an automobile crash in 1928, in which he was riding crashed into a tree, throwing him out. He had reached the age of 96.

ELBA LUMBER CO.

The late Mr. Mullins managed the plant for ARRC which fabricated approximately 200 farm houses distributed over Coffee County which are still in good condition.

At the end of this lease the plant was sold to Jackson Lumber Company, Mr. Mullins staying as manager.

Mr. Mullins purchased the plant in 1940 and with his son, Billy, has operated it since under the name of Elba Lumber Co. It had been a profitable business until recently when the scarcity of timber made sawmilling so difficult.

Mr. Mullins says he has no definite plans at present other than to look after the interests of the City of Elba as its mayor and general supervisor.

About People and Things

By C. B. McDowell

Tires Getting Scarce

According to reports from dealers, truck and automobile tires are beginning to get scarce. It is said they were beginning to show signs of scarcity prior to the Korean war scare. Demand for tires has become almost unbelievably great. Despite the enormous amount of production and longevity of tires demand has surpassed the supply.

Hogs Slightly Off

After reaching a peak price of 24 cents per pound last week, No. 1 hogs brought $23.50 per cwt. on the Elba livestock market Monday. Some of the hog raisers and persons informed on such matters, express the opinion that prices can get too high for the best interests of everybody concerned and they hope prices will not skyrocket on account of war conditions.

Business Houses Get New Point

A number of Elba business buildings are being painted or have recently received fresh coats, greatly improving their appearance. Included in the freshly painted buildings are: Western Auto Associates store, Vaughan and Company, Martin Mercantile Company, Ideal Dress Shoppe, Gulf Service Station and Easy Pay Tire Store.

White is the predominant color with black trimmings, but Proprietor Foy English, whose favorite color is red, used generous amounts of the cardinal trimmings to the predominant white.

The Elba Clipper

VOLUME 54
ELBA, ALABAMA, THURSDAY, JULY 27, 1950
NUMBER 7

THANKS

This week's paper is probably the last paper we will ever be privileged to edit. We have sold the Clipper to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cunningham who are taking over on August 1st.

Our three years here have been pleasant and we have enjoyed serving you with the paper. The hard work we have done has been compensated by the spirit in which you have taken the paper and the appreciation you have shown.

You have made these three years profitable for us, in experience as well as in material gain. You have helped the paper grow and have enabled us to print the paper in a better printing plant than was here before.

We have exerted our best efforts over these three years and have often realized that our best was not as good as should be. Elba needs a good paper and deserves a good paper, and we believe that our continued cooperation the paper will improve considerably.

Our successors, Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham are more thoroughly trained for the job and will be in better position to serve you than we have been. We believe them thoroughly capable and with your cooperation they can get out a better paper and contribute to a bigger and better Elba.

Old Age Assistance Checks Get New Cut Effective This Month

Old age recipients in Coffee County, who will receive their checks next week will be disappointed to find that every old age assistance check has been reduced. The Coffee County Welfare Department would like to know why their checks have been cut from 65 percent of what they need to 48 percent of what they need.

New Additions, Cut In Funds, Make Cut Necessary

The department had less money at the beginning of the present fiscal year because the welfare appropriations from the state general fund were reduced by about 10 percent by the 1949 Legislature. Also there has been a decrease in the state revenue for welfare purposes. In addition to this reduction in funds, there has been an increase in applications for old age assistance. An average of 25 new applications have been received per month. Although some of these applicants have been rejected because the applicants were not eligible, a number have been approved. The number receiving has increased from 903 in October, 1949, to 971 in July, 1950. It has, therefore, been necessary to reduce grants in order that funds would be available for the inclusion of all persons found to be eligible as they must apply monthly.

Fines Levied Against Drivers Interfering With Fire Fighters

In spite of several published warnings, two drivers of a truck and automobile closely followed the fire trucks to the Lee Fire Friday morning and parked so close that they interfered with the firemen. Cases were filed against the violators and Fire Chief Flournoy Whitman requests The Clipper to again warn automotive vehicle drivers to observe the city ordinance forbidding them to closely follow or park near a fire truck at the time of a fire. Chief Whitman said drivers as a rule have been observing the rule pretty well, but there is still a few who either do not know about the law, or who do not care.

Next To Godliness

Safety first is the precept which mothers put into practice when summer leaves dawn. Before it's a real holiday for Mother, she'll want to assure herself she has done all she can to make the child reasonably safe from the threat of such seasonal ailments as polio.

Start 'em Young

To protect against polio and other communicable diseases, Mother must make the youngster her own guardian against germs—by teaching him the value of cleanliness.

Zion Chapel H.D. Cluses

The Zion Chapel and Evergreen Home Demonstration clubs met jointly at the home of Mrs. Earle Eddins on July 12, 1950, with 12 members and two visitors, Miss Matthews and Miss Martin present.

The meeting was called to order by the vice-president and the devotion was given by Mrs. Tom Jacobs with prayer by Miss Matthews. The roll was called and minutes of the last meeting read and approved.

After the business session several trays were made and Miss Matthews gave an interesting lesson on lamps.

Mrs. Byrd, a visitor from Crisp County, Ga. gave an interesting talk on the ways of the club in her county. Miss Martin also gave a talk on some of the most interesting things on her recent trip. The meeting adjourned and will meet with Mrs. Kimmy in August for the annual picnic.

No Worse Off

Elm City's one little bank had just failed. Around the locked-up building, a crowd had gathered and one of the curious exclaimed, "It sure leaves me hard up."

"Did you have much money in the bank?" inquired one of the crowd solicitude.

"Nary a dime," answered the man. "I were hard up fore it closed and it sure left me that way."

The Windy Corner

(By Fred S. Watson)

Judge B. M. Stevens was the sixth Probate Judge of Coffee County. He was born November 13, 1864 and died November 22, 1894. Judge Stevens was a Confederate soldier, a Master Mason, a Baptist minister and a Democrat. Prior to his coming to Elba, Judge Stevens was a "ditch digger."

Some one has well remarked: "Our names are given to us, but we give them their meaning." Unlike this, Judge B. M. Stevens chose his own name, but like the latter part of the quotation, he gave to his name its meaning. In both his private and public life, Judge Stevens was a most affable, courteous and genial gentleman.

Gentility is the word that expresses his character, with good will towards all, malice toward none, he pushed forward with a spirit of fervor in his work of making a record worthy of emulation in days since, and in his days as Probate Judge. There were those who sought to get rid of him by scheming methods and resorting to persecution of the worst sort. In all this he showed himself to be the man of the hour.

The rise of Judge Stevens from a ditch digger in Elba to Probate Judge of his county in less than eight years is most remarkable. He came to Elba from the state of Texas in 1870. He began his work here and dug the old ditch running from the colored Baptist church by the pasturage to the rear of the old Judge Stevens residence in Elba. He taught school for a while, then he studied law and was admitted to the practice of law in Elba. He was appointed county attorney.

After Judge Daniel Gillis' election as Probate Judge in 1874, Judge Stevens became very active in the administration of the county affairs. He wrote and supervised the proceedings of the Commissioners Court in 1876. He was elected to represent Coffee County in the lower house of the General Assembly. He was succeeded in 1878 by Hon. F. M. Rushing and fourteen years later Judge F. M. Rushing succeeded him as Probate Judge of Coffee County.

Judge Stevens was first appointed Probate Judge by Gov. George S. Houston and served for a short time.

He was elected to the office of Probate Judge in 1874, and served for a short time.

The Windy Corner

(By Fred S. Watson)

Judge B. M. Stevens was the sixth Probate Judge of Coffee County. He was born November 13, 1864 and died November 22, 1894. Judge Stevens was a Confederate soldier, a Master Mason, a Baptist minister and a Democrat. Prior to his coming to Elba, Judge Stevens was a "ditch digger."

Some one has well remarked: "Our names are given to us, but we give them their meaning." Unlike this, Judge B. M. Stevens chose his own name, but like the latter part of the quotation, he gave to his name its meaning. In both his private and public life, Judge Stevens was a most affable, courteous and genial gentleman.

Gentility is the word that expresses his character, with good will towards all, malice toward none, he pushed forward with a spirit of fervor in his work of making a record worthy of emulation in days since, and in his days as Probate Judge. There were those who sought to get rid of him by scheming methods and resorting to persecution of the worst sort. In all this he showed himself to be the man of the hour.

The rise of Judge Stevens from a ditch digger in Elba to Probate Judge of his county in less than eight years is most remarkable. He came to Elba from the state of Texas in 1870. He began his work here and dug the old ditch running from the colored Baptist church by the pasturage to the rear of the old Judge Stevens residence in Elba. He taught school for a while, then he studied law and was admitted to the practice of law in Elba. He was appointed county attorney.

After Judge Daniel Gillis' election as Probate Judge in 1874, Judge Stevens became very active in the administration of the county affairs. He wrote and supervised the proceedings of the Commissioners Court in 1876. He was elected to represent Coffee County in the lower house of the General Assembly. He was succeeded in 1878 by Hon. F. M. Rushing and fourteen years later Judge F. M. Rushing succeeded him as Probate Judge of Coffee County.

Judge Stevens was first appointed Probate Judge by Gov. George S. Houston and served for a short time.

DANIEL-KOHL WEDDING IS IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

An impressive candlelight ceremony Wednesday evening, July 12, at 8 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boswell, their sister, Mrs. Sidney Russ Daniel became the bride of Mr. Herbert Kohl of Dayton, Ohio. The marriage vows were read by Rev. Fred L. Davis, before an impressive altar in front of the mantel in the living room. The large mirror over the mantel, encircled in plumosa fern dined blue, reflected the artistic arrangement of silver wedding bells tied with blue satin ribbon, blue fern and crystal candles burning tall candles as end decorations. Banked ferns and small ferns formed the background and bronze wide-spreading candelabra burning tall blue candles interspersed with standard baskets filled with blue gladioli and asters completed the bridal setting.

Miss Hattie Mae Bullard, pianist and Jane Bonnett, vocalist, presented a program of nuptial music. Miss Bullard's first number was "My Hero," "Clair de Lune" was played with a beautiful flourish and her playing was lighted and "To a Wild Rose" during the ceremony. Mr. Bonnett sang "Because" and "One Alone".

The candles were lighted by Fred Harper Jr., Marlon Brunson and Joel Murphree.

To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Miss Bullard, little Barbara Blue Walker of Hurlboro, cousin of the bride, dressed in traditional blue and white with a wristlet of blue ted blue malle and sprays of flowers, and Ricky Boswell, nephew of the bride, wearing white coat and blue trousers, entered carrying bands of white blue satin ribbon to form the aisle for the wedding party.

The bride was attended by two sisters, Mrs. Harry Boswell, as matron of honor, and Miss Miriam Russ as maid of honor. They both wore organdy blue dresses fashioned along similar lines with drop shoulder bodice and bouffant skirts. They carried bouquets of blue feathers and asters and wore bandeaus of blue carnations as hair ornaments.

Dr. R. D. Blue, of Bessemer, cousin of the bride, served the groom as best man. Don and Jon Boswell, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boswell, and nephews of the bride, dressed in white suits entered together bearing the ring on a white satin pillow.

Frances Joe Windham in a dainty dress of blue organdy was the flower girl and scattered the petals of blue carnations and asters from a white basket tied with blue satin ribbon.

The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, Bill Bernhardt of Centerville, formerly of Elba. She wore a wedding dress of celestial blue nylon over taffeta, fashioned with jacket of charlilly lace and a wide flowing skirt. Her hat was a off-fleur-de-lis with blue feathers and a tulle trim. Her gloves of charlilly lace and satin sandals were in the same shade of celestial blue.

Assisting in entertaining and serving were Mrs. Terry Kendrick, Doreen Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Windham, Mrs. W. M. Brunson, Mrs. Jim Whitman, Mrs. Willard Martin, Miss Margaret Whitman, Miss Patsy Mullins, Miss Eloise Boutwell.

Miss Vivian Harper and Mrs. J. V. Wright presided over cutting the wedding cake.

Mrs. Kohl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Russ of Washington, D. C., formerly of Elba. She received her early education in the Elba schools and business training in Washington where she has lived for several years and held responsible positions.

Mr. Kohl is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James C. Kohl of Dayton, Ohio. He is presently connected in newspaper business, being managing editor of the Dayton Daily News.

Later the young couple left on a wedding trip to Florida after which they will make their home in Daytona Village, Daytona, O. For traveling Mrs. Kohl wore a suit of shell pink gabardine with black accessories and the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. J. E. Engram, Miss Nadine Engram, Mrs. E. C. Hayes of New Brockton; Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Rowe, Mrs. Sterlyn Speigler, Mrs. Wilbur Warren, Mrs. Mildred Byrd Brown of Enterprise; Mrs. Old Park of Florence; Mrs. Sam Byrd of Cordele, Ga.; Mrs. J. P. Blue, Dr. D. R. Blue, of Bessemer; Mrs. A. C. Walker, Barbara Walker, Thornton Walker of Hurlboro; Mrs. Ralph Johnson, Charlotte, N. C.; and Bill Bernhardt of Centerville.

City Conveniences Brought to Farms In Past 10 Years

NEW YORK — Roadside hamburger stands are about the only log cabins left in America's farm areas — thanks to home-building progress of the past 10 years.

In 1940 the farm and small town homes were far behind the city house in comfort and convenience. Today they differ in little but location, says The Council of America report on home-building trends.

If farm and small town dwelling improvement in the next decade equals that of the last, modern features such as radiant heating, city tile bathrooms, and automatic temperature control may be commonplace on the farm, according to the council. The 1940-50 decade, during which farmers spend $7,000,000,000 on construction, was the greatest era of farm building and improvement in the nation's history.

In the past 10 years about 850,000 new rural homes were built, about 500,000 got major repairs, and 400,000 old farm houses were eliminated. The number of farms wired for electricity was doubled, as was the number with private bath and flush toilet. Now seven out of every ten of these dwellings have electricity, and nearly three out of 10 have private baths and flush toilets.

Housewives are the beneficiaries of these most recent home improvements. Conveniences such as electric dishwashers, kitchen walls of explosion-clean material, and gas ranges are making life easier for the rural housekeeper.

Men Use Barn And Good Idea To Escape City

QUAKERTOWN — Take a few simple machines from a home work shop, mix well with imagination and at least one sound idea, put together in a new barn and allow to ferment for two years. The result will be a little proof that opportunity knocks as insistently in the smallest towns as the largest cities.

At least, two men who turned their backs on big cities found that was in Quakertown, George L. Setman was a Philadelphia sales executive who decided to leave the city for the pleasant tiny town of Harbison, a teacher of aeronautics and an aircraft technician, was bored with New York's gaudy attractions. They met by chance in Quakertown because of a common interest in aviation.

Setman had a large cow barn on his farm which also served as a Quakertown airport. Johnson had some machinery in a guest house on his country place and was eager to put it to profitable use.

The idea was about as simple and obvious as the rest of their equipment. It was just this: business and industry spend millions of dollars needlessly having dead weight because they make cabinets, boxes, hand trucks, pallets, and all sorts of handling equipment out of wood and other heavy materials.

Why not make this material of sturdy aircraft aluminum? With labor costs what they are, wouldn't it be worthwhile to have the wages of one man when one man with an aluminum container could carry as much as two with heavier equipment?

Saves $120,000 a Year

At the beginning, in October, 1947, the men were undisturbed as the machinery was set up in the male

One man did the work, as slated by airplane pilots on days when weather halted flying. Then a television manufacturer adopted a handling idea suggested by Johnson and Setman—saving $120,000 a year. Soon 10 of the 11 television manufacturers had ordered equipment. The cows were sold, the barn remodelled, more men put to work.

A pie baker complained that the plywood pallets on which he hauled pies sagged and ruined pies. It took two men to scrape them clean of fruit juices. They didn't last long when steam cleaned.

That problem was made to order for the Bucks County Enterprises, as Setman and Johnson were now calling their company. Aircraft aluminum pallets didn't sag, they gave the pie bakery a clean and cheery appearance, the pallets could be cleaned easily with steam with no hand scraping. Of course, the original cost was higher but the long run savings were substantial.

35 Men Working

More and more companies learned to solve one problem: the small town manufacturer sometimes has that is, how to give prompt attention to his customers in larger cities. Both make all sales and service calls and fill rush orders by plane. On one recent day, Johnson kept an 8:30 a.m. appointment in Lancaster, Pa., few to Washington for an 11 a.m. call and was in New York 3 p.m. to service another customer.

Aluminum, and especially the aluminum alloys, are relatively new in the world of metals," Johnson explains. "Few businessmen realize the money saving potential offered by a strong, lightweight metal. Our interest in aviation had impressed us with the possibilities of aluminum."

in other fields and we just adapted this big general idea to specific needs. We're in the business of selling ideas at 80 per cent of the products we sell we design ourselves. The market is never glutted with sound ideas and it's as easy to sell them from a small town as the largest city. And lots more work."

Radio Commentator Wins Sidown Strike on Plane

ZANESVILLE, OHIO.—The radio commentator, H. V. Kallenborn, recently won a strike—a sidown strike—against an air line.

TWO officials said a man who identified himself as H. V. Kallenborn boarded the plane in New York without reservation and promised to get off in case sufficient passengers with reservations at other stops filled the ship to capacity.

At Zanesville it happened, but Kallenborn refused to leave saying he had to be in Columbus, Ohio, by 7:30 p. m. It was then about 5:30 p. m.

Finally the pilot and the station master promised to pay his taxi fare to Columbus, about 60 miles away. The man would not leave, however, until a call came from aboard and promised to get him to Columbus by 7:30.

With that promise he departed.

Private Religion

DAVID knew, as some of his sue cessors did, that public worship is not the whole of religion. His personal relationships were controlled by his religious faith.

Take the case of Mephibosheth, for instance. If David had followed the usual pattern, he would have had poor Mephibosheth beheaded before breakfast. For the young man was the one remaining grandson (so far as we knew then) of David's bitter enemy, King Achish.

In those days you always went on the principle that if a man was your enemy, so were all his relatives. It was generally true, too; and under the customs of those days Mephibosheth might have been expected to plan revenge, sooner or later, for his grandfather's and father's death.

David did not let him sink into obscurity but gave him what we would call a pension, a princely one too, treating him as if he were one of his own family.

The Inner Life

WELL, religion has its outside but it also has its inside. Public worship and loving your neighbors are not the root of religion but its fruit. The roots of it are deep within the soul. And David had that true faith which comes from within.

He was humble, not proud, as Psalm 24 shows. Great kings though he was, he knew there is only one King of Glory. He was confident, as every leader must be; but his confidence was based not on himself but on his God. (II Sam. 22, which is re-written as Psalm 18.)

And when David sinned, as he shamefully did, he did not make excuses for himself or sink into easy satisfaction in his worst self. If to be a saint is to be without sin, then David was no saint (and you are one?). But if being a saint means that in spite of sin one comes to have the cleansing kind of experience that Psalm 51 records, then David was a man after God's own heart.

Horns of a Dilemma

Lyn! Jack's best story was of an elk he once killed that had a spread of antlers 15 feet wide. He always kept these, as he said, in the left of his cabin. One time after a long absence Lyn! Jack showed up in Benton. The boys were all glad to see him, and after a round or two of drinks, asked for a story.

"No, boys," said Jack, "I'm through. For years, I've been telling these lies—told 'em so often I got to believing 'em myself. That story of mine about the elk with the 15-foot horns is what cured me. I told about that elk so often that I knew the place I killed it. One night I lit a candle and crawled up to the loft to view the horns—an' I'm darned if they weren't there!"

SHHH!

Landlord (to prospective tenant): "You know we keep it very quiet and orderly here. Do you have any children?"

"No."

"A piano, radio, or victrola?"

"No."

"Do you play any musical instrument? Do you have a dog, cat, or parrot?"

"No, but my fountain pen scratches like heck sometimes."

Refus: "The Rustus an' what he is yo' wants to agree on."

Rustus: "Which ever of us dies should come back and tell 'em what it's like up here."

Rustus (after some hesitation): "Well, she Rustus, a'ts a good one. But I agree only on one condition."

Refus: "What's dat, Rustus?"

Rustus: "That if yo' die first, yo' come back in de daylight."

Private Religion

DAVID knew, as some of his sue cessors did, that public worship is not the whole of religion. His personal relationships were controlled by his religious faith.

Take the case of Mephibosheth, for instance. If David had followed the usual pattern, he would have had poor Mephibosheth beheaded before breakfast. For the young man was the one remaining grandson (so far as we knew then) of David's bitter enemy, King Achish.

In those days you always went on the principle that if a man was your enemy, so were all his relatives. It was generally true, too; and under the customs of those days Mephibosheth might have been expected to plan revenge, sooner or later, for his grandfather's and father's death.

David did not let him sink into obscurity but gave him what we would call a pension, a princely one too, treating him as if he were one of his own family.

The Inner Life

WELL, religion has its outside but it also has its inside. Public worship and loving your neighbors are not the root of religion but its fruit. The roots of it are deep within the soul. And David had that true faith which comes from within.

He was humble, not proud, as Psalm 24 shows. Great kings though he was, he knew there is only one King of Glory. He was confident, as every leader must be; but his confidence was based not on himself but on his God. (II Sam. 22, which is re-written as Psalm 18.)

And when David sinned, as he shamefully did, he did not make excuses for himself or sink into easy satisfaction in his worst self. If to be a saint is to be without sin, then David was no saint (and you are one?). But if being a saint means that in spite of sin one comes to have the cleansing kind of experience that Psalm 51 records, then David was a man after God's own heart.

London Girl Is Lonely White Queen Of African Tribe

SEROWE, AFRICA—A pretty former London stenographer, now the white queen of the black Baniangwato, is probably the loneliest woman in Africa although she is surrounded by hundreds of her subjects and many white people.

She is also aware that her marriage to the Baniangwato chief has brought to the fore the touchy question of Britain's relations with the non-white races of the empire.

She is isolated because the British have forced her husband to return to London and he cannot return to his tribe for five years. Her isolation is increased because the white colony of Serowe will have nothing to do with her.

The whites look down on mixed marriage. At the town's few social occasions they studiously ignore her. She gets no invitations from them and she has no white callers.

One young white couple who were her friends and sometimes called on her, have been transferred.

There was little doubt that the move was officially inspired.

Her palace is a simply furnished brick and mortar home on the outskirts of the mud hut capital. The house is surrounded by a high wall of thorn trees.

She has a Baniangwato cook, but does most of the shopping herself. She uses a 1949 automobile for such trips.

The house has no electricity, although wired, and no sewage system. A battery-powered radio is almost her only line with the outside world.

Although she is isolated and has no friends, she is determined to stick it out until her husband can return. He made one short visit about five months ago and will make another when their child is born.

Emperor of Japan Studying Christianity

CARDIFF, WALES—Dr. Toyoko Kagawa, a Japanese evangelist, told the British council of churches that the Japanese emperor is being instructed in Christianity.

The evangelist said the empress is receiving the instructions and that she, in turn is teaching the emperor, once regarded by all Japanese as semidivine.

He said there were fewer Japanese Christians now than before the war, but that a Christian revival was underway. He added that in every place there is a struggle going on between communism and Christianity.

Navy Uses Fort Knox Gold For Cosmic-Ray Research

WASHINGTON — The office of naval research announced recent use of $200,000 in gold had been borrowed from the Fort Knox vaults for use in new cosmic-ray research.

Four hundred pounds of gold were used as a new material for intercepting the invisible rays and causing them to produce "showers" which then can be photographed with the help of special apparatus. Previously, lead had been used for the material.

O. N. R. officials said all but $23 worth of the metal was returned to Fort Knox.

Gold bricks were machined into special plates and highly polished, a navy research man said. "The cosmic rays actually effected no major change in the gold itself," he added.

After the four-month job was finished the gold was assayed to determine any change in purity. The navy reported no change.

Winston Churchill Paintings To Adorn U.S. Yule Cards

KANSAS CITY—Winston Churchill's paintings will appear on American Christmas cards this year the first time the British wartime premier has permitted reproduction of his work for such a purpose.

The Hallmark greeting card company negotiated a three-year contract with Mr. Churchill, a famed amateur painter, for use of 18 of his canvases which are now on their way to the United States. The paintings remain the property of Mr. Churchill, however.

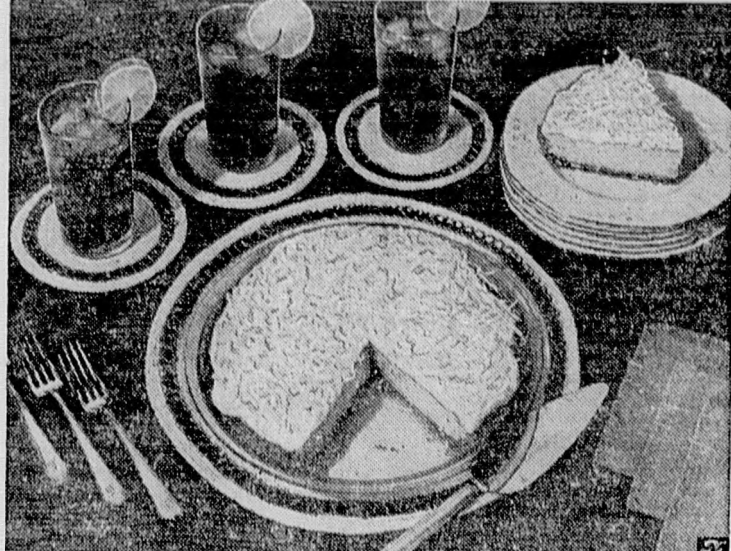

His work has never been exhibited in this country, according to Joyce C. Hall, head of the greeting card firm, and he has never sold a painting. One was donated last year to the British YWCA and was auctioned for charity. Others have been given to Franklin D. Roosevelt, Henry Luce and Bernard Baruch.

Power Lines Hit Tree, Electrocute 1,000 Birds

The wet power lines sagged against the wet tree branches used by the birds as a roost. Witnesses said that one second the birds were chirping merrily, and the next instant all were quiet except for the soft thump of the falling bodies from the tree.

Cool As A Snowflake

Cool to look at; cool to taste! What could be more appealing on a sultry summer day than this luscious Coconut Lime Chiffon Pie. And best of all—especially if you are the one to do it—it's cool to make because this lovely dessert never sees the inside of an oven. That's right—not even for baking the shell. The refrigerator does the job.

You see, this Coconut Lime Chiffon Pie boasts a tasty graham cracker crust—and that, of course, can be put together in no time and then chilled. Without benefit of oven, it is crisp, tender, and delicious.

The filling is whipped-cream-lime-flavored gelatin—a fresh, cool green that makes this pie a real eye-catcher. It is topped with whipped cream, generously sprinkled with frosty white coconut. A really heavenly dessert with so little effort—and no hot-weather-baking discomfort!

Coconut Lime Chiffon Pie
1 package lime-flavored gelatin
1½ cups hot water
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 Graham Cracker Pie Shell
Dissolve gelatin in the hot water. Add salt and lemon juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Then place in bowl of ice and water and beat with rotary egg beater until fluffy and thick like whipped cream. Fold about one-third of the whipped cream and ½ cup of the coconut into the whipped gelatin and turn into Graham Cracker Pie Shell. Spread with remaining whipped cream and sprinkle with ½ cup coconut. Chill.

Open Cotton Bolls

June, 1950, be, and the same is hereby, amended to read as follows: "Section 3. Stamps. The City Clerk shall keep on hand for sale an adequate quantity of stamps to be affixed to each package of cigarettes in denominations as required under this ordinance. Each such stamp shall have inscribed thereon the words "City of Elba Tobacco Tax", provided, however, that said stamp for use in stamping tobacco products levied by Section 2 A hereof in the police jurisdiction of said city, in lieu of having inscribed thereon the words "City of Elba Tobacco Tax" may have inscribed thereon the words "City of Bessemer Tobacco Tax 1c".

Section 2. That this amendment is made by reason of the fact that a large quantity of tobacco tax stamps inscribed "City of Bessemer Tobacco Tax 1c" is available to the City of Elba at a price much less than that required if stamps were purchased in 1c denominations for use in stamping tobacco products sold within the police jurisdiction of the City of Elba.

Section 3. That the City Clerk caused this ordinance to be published in one issue of the Elba Clipper, a newspaper of general circulation published in the City of Elba, Alabama.
